4.	Background
4.1	The presentation outlines the genesis and impact of the commonest Adverse Childhood Experiences. These experiences lead to impaired emotional health and learning in children and young people, mental health in young adults, and physical ill health in older adults. In addition the adverse impact upon parenting results in an intergenerational cycle of disadvantage and abuse.
4.2	Identifying those individuals with these adverse experiences provides an enhanced opportunity for individual change with improvement in individual and family health and wellbeing. This then leads to an opportunity to break the intergenerational cycle and.
4.3	There are examples given of the use of the Adverse Childhood Experience framework in Birmingham which aim to demonstrate the impact this can achieve.
