Dear Jayne

As we arranged previously, please find enclosed the petition for a signature park at Smithfield, which has gained 10,675 signatures as of today. You have all the details that you need to present it on my behalf at the council meeting this Tuesday 15th January.

Further information regarding the history of the petition can be found at <https://www.change.org/p/birmingham-city-council-petition-to-create-a-public-park-in-the-centre-of-birmingham> (or simply google the following words: Park Petition Birmingham and you will get to the website). It has been submitted previously, the first time was in 2015. This resulted in the council deciding to put a small park in the site (at the time the petition had about 2000 signatures) but as explained in the attached cover letter and on the website, the proposed park is simply too small and not the focus that it should be for the site.

Our alternative plan (see www.citypark4brum.com) puts a larger park at the heart of Smithfield. What we are now asking of the council is that they consider our plan and that CityPark4Brum (and its representatives) are given the opportunity to work with the council and Lendlease (the chosen developer) to develop the Smithfield plans further. With over 10,000 people supporting this campaign, we believe we have earned the right to have a place at the table.

My wife, Janet Culley-Tucker, has also requested to ask a question at the council meeting on Tuesday on my behalf (unfortunately I am unable to attend for work reasons). The question is given below:

I am here representing over 10,000 people who have signed the CityPark4Brum petition to create a new public park on the Smithfield site. Parks are vital for a city's public health, for social cohesion and for improving air quality as well as for delivering economic benefits. We believe that the petition gives us a mandate from the people of Birmingham to act on their behalf to help deliver a park that is larger and more transformative than the one proposed in the 2016 Masterplan, which is much smaller than the size stipulated in the council's own guidelines for public open space in new developments. So will the council now assure us that representatives of this campaign for greening the city centre will be invited to join the city council and developer's team which will plan the design for Smithfield?

Thanks again for volunteering to present the petition on my behalf. I look forward to hearing from you and the council in due course on what the response to the petition is and want the next steps for Smithfield will be.

Yours sincerely,

Jim Tucker
