Request for the Use of the Coat of Arms by John Brophy and Roy Short

- 3.1 A request has been received from John Brophy and Roy Short to use the Coat of Arms. They have become known as the Birmingham Peaky Blinders as they dress in the complete attire of the characters from the TV series and are part the Birmingham tours group promoting Birmingham. They also have taken part in several charity events. They have requested that they as Birmingham Peaky Blinders be allowed to use the Birmingham Coat of Arms to promote not only Birmingham tours but the City itself on their social media and at charity events.

BACKGROUND IN RESPECT OF THE USE OF THE BIRMINGHAM COAT OF ARMS

- 3.2 Section 73 of the West Midlands County Council Act 1980 provides that –
- “If any person without the consent of the local authority uses in connection with any trade, business, calling or profession any part of the armorial bearings of that authority, or any emblem or device closely resembling any such part, in a manner calculated to lead to the belief that he displays the part, emblem or device with the approval of that local authority, he may at the suit of the local authority be restrained by an injunction from continuing to use that part, emblem or device.”
- 3.3 The Coat of Arms is a dignity granted by Royal Charter and, as such, is not a property right. The Council cannot therefore license or authorise its use (by others) as such. All that the Council can do is to indicate whether it has any objection to its use. If the Council has no objection, then it would be safe to assume that it will not seek to restrain the use by way of an injunction.
- 3.4 The Committee’s normal practice has been to indicate that the Council would object to the use of the Coat of Arms except on materials sponsored or produced by, or closely associated with, the Council or in other special circumstances.
